

Mrs. Catt Back To Help Put Suffrage Over

Delegation Meets Her at Pier as She Lands With Mrs. Daniels, Also Back From Geneva Convention
Bright Future for Cause
Declares All Nations Were Represented Except Belgium and Soviet Russia

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the International Woman's Suffrage Alliance, and Mrs. Josephus Daniels, the official representative of the United States at the suffrage convention at Geneva, were among the passengers on the French liner Lafayette, which docked yesterday morning.

A delegation from suffrage headquarters greeted Mrs. Catt with the good news that the Governor of Tennessee had called a special session of the Legislature for August 9, and that Tennessee would probably be the "perfect thirty-six," on which suffrage hopes are set.

Will Direct Campaign
Mrs. Catt will immediately resume charge of the ratification campaign. At the International Suffrage Convention, this diverse country was represented. The only two European countries not represented were Belgium and Soviet Russia. The Belgian women refused to attend the convention if the Germans were admitted, and the Russians, Mrs. Catt said, did not come because their organization has entirely disappeared under Soviet rule. The new republics which were born during the war—Lithuania, Estonia, Ukraine—have woman suffrage.

"The women of all countries testified to their faith in the League of Nations," said Mrs. Catt, "but they were a unit in declaring that the league would be futile unless the United States comes in."

"The thing the women of Europe are really interested in, however, is milk. Children all over Europe are suffering from malnutrition, and schemes for saving them are the schemes that most engage women's attention. Women with their strong nature instinct are alive to the fact that the urgent need of Europe to-day is the revitalization of its coming generation."

Mrs. Daniels, in parting from Mrs. Catt, declared it was a great privilege to have attended the women's congress.

"A remarkable influence for good can be exerted by an international organization of women," she said. "At the congress there predominated a great desire on the part of women to meet on common ground in order to give the greatest service to the world."

Mrs. Daniels Tells Story
"The achievements of the alliance in gaining political equality for women were evidenced by the reports from twenty-two nations that they had gained equal suffrage since the last convention, in 1913. It promises well for success of the program of legislation for political, economic, civil and educational equality which was adopted at this meeting, as its program until the next convention in 1922."

Mrs. Daniels told a story of the foot and mouth disease which is prevalent in Switzerland. A party of American women, she said, who came to visit her by automobile, were obliged to leave the automobile, take off their shoes and stockings, and walk through a disinfecting solution.

Booklover Is Fined $10
Penalty Imposed on Youth Who Took Volumes for Study
Benjamin S. Brines, whose efforts to obtain knowledge, led him to take books from the New York Public Library under assumed names, was fined $10 by Magistrate Fleischman, in Jefferson Market court yesterday. The penalty was imposed after a probation officer had investigated his case and charges ranging from petty larceny to disorderly conduct had been made.

Inquiry disclosed that Brines, who is only twenty, had taken the books to quench his thirst for knowledge. All the volumes have been returned to the library since his arrest.

Woman and Boy Die In Auto Accidents

Man Is Seriously Hurt When Hit by Machine While Cranking Own Car

Mrs. Tillie Kromiel, of 514 East 138th Street, the Bronx, died yesterday afternoon at Lincoln Hospital from a fracture of the skull a short time after she was hit by an automobile in 138th Street, near Brook Avenue.

Edward Katz, of 423 East 164th Street, the Bronx, owner and driver of the car, said Mrs. Kromiel had crossed the street ahead of him when she suddenly darted back for her child, who had remained at the opposite curb. Her movement was so sudden, he declared, that he had no opportunity to avoid her.

A motor truck killed Emil Vollett, six years old, of 1533 Norton Place, Far Rockaway, at Carlton and Central avenues, Far Rockaway.

Henry Burbach, of 1443 East Ninth Street, Brooklyn, was cranking his automobile in Bedford Avenue, near Madison Street, Brooklyn, when a car driven by Dr. Charles Hirsch, of 462 East Fifty-first Street, Brooklyn, crashed into the forward end of his machine, sheered off to the sidewalk and brought up against a tree. Burbach was seriously injured and was taken to the Jewish Hospital. His wife and child, who were in his car, were unhurt. Dr. Hirsch said he had lost control of his machine. He was locked up charged with reckless driving.

Arrested After 21 Years

Man, 47, Must Face Charge of Murdering Sweetheart

CHICAGO, June 28.—Daniel Wright, forty-seven, was surrendered to Sheriff Frank Cooper, of Richland County, La., to-day to answer to a charge of murdering Hattie Strogie, at Rayville, La., twenty-one years ago.

John Timmons, a former resident of Rayville, caused Wright's arrest after he saw him in a saloon. Timmons told police that he had met Wright twice since 1899, the first time in Little Rock, Ark., nineteen years ago, and again in Chicago, three years ago.

Wright, who had been living here under the name of Johnson, denied in court to-day that he had killed the girl, who is said to have been his sweetheart. He admitted, police say, that he was within ten miles of Rayville at the time of the slaying.

Prisoners in Wreck Saved

STOCKHOLM, June 28.—The 2,000 British, Austrian, German and Finnish repatriated prisoners of war on board a Polish steamship, which sank June 6 in the Neva River, were saved, according to a dispatch to the "Dagblad" from Helsingfors.

More Testimony Offered In 80-Cent Gas Hearing

New York and Queens Officials Say Demand and Expenses Both Are Increasing

Further testimony on the application of the New York & Queens County Gas Co. to have the 80-cent rate for gas declared confiscatory and unconstitutional was heard yesterday by Special Master A. S. Gilbert in the office at 51 Chambers Street. The hearing has been in progress for ten days and is a part of the main suit of the Consolidated Gas Company, now pending before the United States District Court.

Maynard H. Spear, vice-president and general manager of the New York & Queens County Gas Co., testified that the company sold 336,000,000 cubic feet of gas in 1919. He figured there would be an increase in distribution of gas from 15 to 20 per cent during 1920.

Attorney W. L. Ransom, for the company, pointed out that this increase in sales would necessarily increase the company's expenses, and declared that the cost of coal, repairs and materials is much higher this year than last.

On cross-examination by Eli Neuman, representing the Public Service Commission, Mr. Spear said that the company's expenses for the first five months of 1920 were greatly in excess of the corresponding period last year; that salaries have been increased in some instances and that large amounts have been paid for repairs.

Mr. Gilbert said that, comparing the expenditures of the company at present with previous expenditures the books would show a loss of 5 cents on every 1,000 feet of gas manufactured and delivered. The hearings ended yesterday, and counsel were directed to have their proposed findings ready by July 6.

One Dead, Many Hurt In Religious Clash

Nearly 500 Shots Are Fired in Fight at End of Church Meeting in Michigan

TOLEDO, June 28.—One man was killed and a score hurt, one probably fatally, in a clash to-day between Catholic and Protestant adherents, near North Whiteford, Mich. Nearly 500 shots were fired.

The shooting occurred at the end of an all-night anti-Catholic meeting, conducted in the Wesleyan Methodist Church, of North Whiteford, by Louis J. King, editor of "The Converted Catholic Evangelist," of Toledo.

The trouble is said to have had its inception three weeks ago, when King began a series of meetings in and around Whiteford. At one of the meetings King is alleged to have made the remark that "Catholic soldiers were slackers," but is reported to have told a committee of Catholics who waited on him that he referred to Catholic soldiers of Europe.

Two Skulls Found in Incompleted House

Two human skulls and several other bones, evidently not recently taken from bodies, were found yesterday in the incompleted Larchmont home of William Farmer, who died several years ago before his residence had been finished.

On the skulls was writing, which the police have failed to decipher, and a book was also discovered bearing on its title page "Kia Kia, Devouring Tribe of the World."

Reports that some one was in the house reached Lieutenant John Koch, of the Larchmont police, yesterday afternoon. He and a patrolman started for the place and saw three negroes leave as they approached. The police are now endeavoring to fathom the incoherent writing in the book found with the bones.

The old-fashioned type-case consisted of two shallow boxes, subdivided into many divisions, each of which contained a different character. One case was set above the other. The upper case held the ROMAN letters, or CAPS, as well as the SMALL CAPS; the lower case housed the small letters. From the arrangement of his case the printer called the small letters "lower case."

Nicky's Right to Keep Silence Is Sustained

Judge Hand Holds Arnstein May Refuse Answers in Bankruptcy Case

Nicky Arnstein doesn't have to answer the questions which were put to him in bankruptcy proceedings to discover how much property he has, according to a decision rendered yesterday by Judge A. N. Hand in the United States District Court. Judge Hand decided that Nicky probably was right in his assertion that the answers might tend to incriminate him.

"The bankrupt has declined to answer questions relating to his property," said Judge Hand, "asserting his constitutional privilege. I have no doubt that the answers might furnish information which would render him liable to prosecution in the Federal court for concealment of assets—no which prosecution alone the privilege extends."

"However desirable it may be that the bankrupt should not be exempt from examination as to his disposition of his property, I find that the overwhelming weight of authority sustains the asserted privilege."

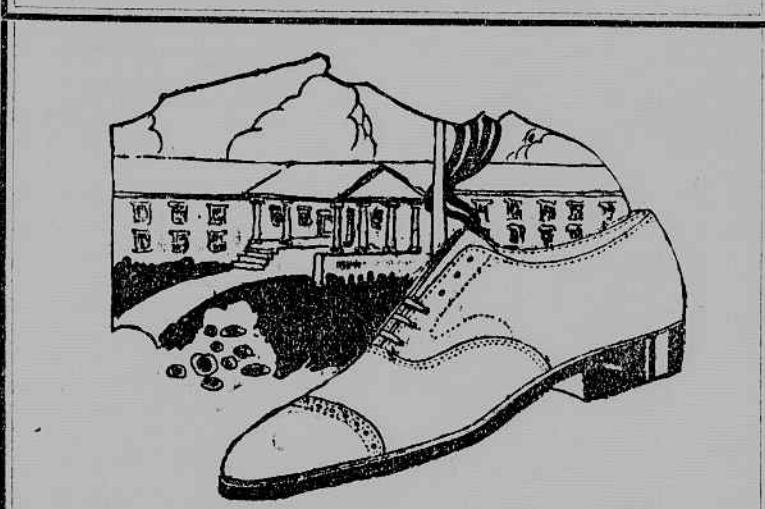

Saul S. Myers, attorney for the surety companies in the bankruptcy proceedings before Special Commissioner Alexander Gilchrist Jr., made the motion for Nicky's commitment for contempt when the latter refused to answer his questions.

Doomed Men See Outdoor Cells to Face Deaths in New Sing Sing Death House

Special Dispatch to The Tribune
OSSING, June 28.—Plans for the new death house at Sing Sing, which have been submitted to Warden Lewis E. Lawes, show that the men in the condemned cells are to lose the somewhat doubtful privilege of staring into a fellow prisoner's cell and are to gain a view of the outdoor world.

Instead of two rows of cells, face to face, there will be but one row facing on a row of windows. The change will make it impossible for prisoners to communicate by means of signals, as they do at present.

Baker Denies Survey Is In Defiance of Congress

Declares Study of Camps Is Only to Show Facilities in Case of Need

From The Tribune's Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON, June 28.—A comprehensive study has been started by the war plan division of the War Department to ascertain the facilities available at cantonments and army posts for the training of large bodies of men, Secretary of War Baker said to-day.

The survey was not prompted by any desire on the part of the War Department to disregard the refusal of Congress to provide for universal military training in the army reorganization bill, as charged by the American Union Against Militarism in a statement issued Saturday, Secretary Baker said.

The War Secretary declared that the general staff, of which the war plan division is a part, is constantly making studies to determine proper steps to take in the event of another war, and that the surveys now in progress are merely better to inform the War Department on the extent of the facilities now available.

Secretary Baker said the charge of the Union Against Militarism, that inquiry was being made to expand the present cantonments to provide for 7,000,000 men under arms, was without foundation.

"You can rest assured that the War Department will not provide for compulsory military training or non-compulsory military training unless Congress specifically directs it," Secretary Baker said. "The studies we are making are only those which come within the authority already granted the War Department, which is to be prepared to plan military operations on a scale adequate to meet any emergency."

Espionage Is Denounced

Professor Declares Even Cabinet Assistants' Mail Is Opened

CHICAGO, June 28.—Denouncing the "suppression of free speech" during the war, Professor Stanley I. Rypins, of the University of Minnesota, told the Cook County Committee of Forty-eight convention last night that even the mail of cabinet assistants was not safe from scrutiny by the military intelligence section.

Rypins, who served in the intelligence bureau, declared he had opened the mail of Breckinridge Long, the Third Assistant Secretary of State, "because he had happened to be in correspondence with a conscientious objector."

"I opened it," he added, "because the man ordered me to do it had bayonets at their backs and I had to obey."

DAYTON, Ohio, June 28.—At an altitude of 20,000 feet, Sergeant Botterill, United States Air Service, preparing to jump with a parachute strapped to his back, was blown from an aeroplane piloted by a civilian here this afternoon and dropped safely nearly four miles to earth.

The sergeant's arm was broken when it struck the rudder, carrying the latter away. The jump breaks the former record of 18,600 feet. The plane landed safely.

LONDON, June 28.—Two persons are dead and eighty wounded as a result of food riots in Hamburg, according to a Central News dispatch from Berlin. Four Men With Pistols Arrested in Automobile

Coil of Rope and Explosives Also Found in Car by a Mamaroneck Patrolman

When Patrolman Lombard, of the Mamaroneck police, investigated an automobile which stopped in Mamaroneck Square at 4 o'clock Sunday morning, he found on the four occupants of the car two loaded revolvers, a coil of rope and much nitro glycerine.

The machine was a new touring car of expensive design. The occupants were in appearance out of accord with the surroundings, a circumstance which first aroused Lombard's suspicions. After they had been arrested and charged with carrying concealed weapons, they gave the names and addresses of Peter Margolis, 201 East Eleventh Street; Frank Bozoto, 242 First Avenue; Frank Ferro, 413 East Fifteenth Street, and Joseph Picolo, 615 Third Avenue, all in Manhattan. They said they were on their way to Boston, and produced chauffeurs' licenses for 1917, 1918 and 1919, but none for the current year.

The men will be arraigned in Mamaroneck to-day. The New York police are looking up their records.

Albania Termed Anarchic

Italian Premier Denies Sending Troops to Region

ROME, June 28.—During a debate on the Albanian situation in the Chamber of Deputies Sunday, Socialists demanded the withdrawal of Italian troops.

Premier Giolitti, in replying, said the government was not sending troops to Albania, and reminded the Chamber that when he was last Premier he had urged that Albania ought to be completely independent and had done his best to secure the formation of a stable government.

"Albania was capable at that time of maintaining its independence," he said, "but the situation there has changed and conditions have become anarchistic."

Elia Deportation Stayed

Indictment for Alleged Bomb Planting Believed Planned

Immigration authorities at Ellis Island were informed yesterday that Louis F. Post, Assistant Secretary of Labor, had granted a stay of thirty days in the deportation proceedings against Roberto Elia, who was arrested with Andreas Salsedo for alleged complicity in the bomb planting of June, 1919. Salsedo killed himself by leaping from a fourteenth floor window after having been confined for several weeks in the local office of the Department of Justice.

It is thought that Charles D. Newton, Attorney General of the State of New York, requested the stay and wants to take Elia's case before the Kings County Grand Jury with the intention of obtaining an indictment in connection with the planting of a bomb at the home of Judge Charles C. Nott, of General Sessions.

Elia's printing shop was in Brooklyn, which is the reason, it is thought, that the Kings County Grand Jury will be asked to hear the evidence.
